HiCAD

HiCAD is the 2D/3D CAD Software for all-rounders and specialists in the field of engineering and development. The software is adaptable to the needs and size of a company. Small manufacturing companies, medium sized companies with their own product development or large international companies will find the right combination of all necessary functions in one system due to the modular structure of HiCAD. With HiCAD, in addition to industry-relevant functions, you can use both 2D and 3D in a single interface. The use of different CAD solutions is therefore a thing of the past. In addition, the drawings can be transferred directly to the machine, production or manufacturing.

In the areas of installation, technology and production, HiCAD is able to meet the high demands required in the engineering of (complex) projects. By means of these automated processes, projects can be carried out on time, optimized, safely and accurately.

HELiOS

HELiOS is the flexible PDM system when it comes to manage product data. PDM (Product Data Management) is used to bundle and manage information about a product from different systems (e.g. Office, CAD or also ERP) and different departments. This makes it easy to find and check all information about a product or project. HELiOS can be used for the various phases from product to data management.

With HELiOS as product data management you can easily improve your business process, which among other things ensures a more efficient way of working and the safe storage of documents. HELiOS can be adapted to company-specific circumstances and wishes.
